

Description

As a direct result of the burgeoning business and entrepreneurship scene in Asia, the need for domestic and international law has risen and increased the presence of global firms engaged in all aspects of the legal landscape. The legal career field placements allow undergraduates the unique opportunity to work with individual lawyers and partners to support their casework and other needs of assistance. Public policy placements also have a rich presence in many of our locations allowing political science, criminal justice, and international relations students to gain industry exposure.

Key Skills

- Account Management
- Assessing Claims
- Client Relations and Support
- Commercial Awareness
- Content Creation
- Contentious Negotiations / Application of the Law
- Country-Specific Policies and Laws
- Developing Arguments
- Due Diligence Activities
- Event Management
- Legal Document Drafting & Review
- Legal Research & Analysis
- Marketing & Promotion
- Oral and Written Communication
- Translating (if applicable)